

PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) has prepared the underlying Report (the 'Report') for the sole benefit of the Report addressees only. This Report is not to be relied on by any other parties ('third parties').

We understand that you wish to have access to the Report.

This letter sets out the terms on which PwC will agree to release the Report to you and explains certain matters in relation to the Report. Those terms are:

1. You accept that in (acceptance of) providing you with a copy of the Report, PwC does not authorise you to use the Report (including as a basis of any disciplinary, civil, administrative, criminal or other legal proceedings against PwC) and you accept that PwC has no duty of care, responsibility or liability to you, whether in contract, tort (including negligence) or otherwise. PwC does not authorise you to rely on the Report and explicitly denies any duty of care, responsibility or liability to you in that respect.
2. Save as required by law or regulation, court order or required by any competent judicial, governmental, supervisory or regulatory body, you agree not to pass the Report to third parties by any means without PwC's prior written consent. As an exception to your confidentiality obligation pursuant to this letter, you may provide the Report to your directors, officers and employees, such exclusively on a need-to-know basis, as well as to your legal and financial advisors for the purposes of your seeking advice (each of the afore-mentioned persons and parties together 'authorized recipients'), provided that when doing so you ensure that each of them agrees that:
 - the Report is confidential and disclosure by them to any other party is not permitted without prior written consent of PwC;
 - they receive the Report for information purposes only and PwC accepts no liability, responsibility and/or duty of care to them in respect of any use they may make of the Report and PwC does not authorise them to rely for any purpose on the Report.

You assume responsibility and liability resulting from a breach of the above terms by the authorized recipient(s) as if it was your own breach.

3. Whether or not PwC has given its consent to any disclosure, it will not accept any liability or responsibility to and does not authorise its use and/or reliance by any third party who may gain access to the Report (including the authorized recipients).
4. If you become legally compelled to disclose any of the information included in the Report, you will provide PwC with prompt written notice, to the fullest extent as permitted under the applicable laws or regulations. You will only issue that portion of information, which is legally required to be disclosed.
5. The Report and the work underlying the Report covered only the matters set out in the engagement letter between PwC and us. PwC's work and the Report were not planned or prepared in contemplation, or for the purpose, of your interests or needs. Consequently, the issues covered in the Report and the emphasis placed upon them, may not address or reflect your specific requirements, interests or circumstances. It is your responsibility to consider whether the scope and depth of procedures performed is suitable for your purposes.
6. The terms of this letter are governed by the laws of the Netherlands. The competent District Court of Amsterdam shall have exclusive jurisdiction in respect of any dispute arising out of these terms or in connection therewith.

By clicking on the “I ACCEPT” button, you have agreed to be legally bound by the above terms and conditions. Such acceptance and agreement shall be deemed to be as effective as a written signature by you, and this agreement shall be deemed to satisfy any writing requirements of any applicable law, notwithstanding that the agreement is written and accepted electronically.

By clicking on the “I DO NOT ACCEPT” button, you, as a third party, have accepted that you are not authorised to use the Report (including as a basis of any disciplinary, civil, administrative, criminal or other legal proceedings against PwC) and you have accepted that PwC has no duty of care, responsibility or liability to you, whether in contract, tort (including negligence) or otherwise. PwC explicitly denies any duty of care, responsibility or liability to you.
